SERMS UNTAIR.

Yesterday's Esgie contained an article clipped from an Oklahoma paper, written by a young lady who was brought up in Dothan ing for the people to watch the She is the eldest daughter of one spokes in the wheel of justice, as of Dothan's oldest citzens, Ed Nix, who left here a year or two ago for Oklahoma. Since Christmas, he took steps to secure a divorce from his wife, after over twenty years of married life. This has been known in Dothan for several weeks, for Mr. Nix had an Oklahoma paper publish an arti-cle about the unfortunate affair He had it published after Mrs. Nix left there for Alabama, published, too, in a town where he himself was but little known, having just moved there the month before, and at a time when Mrs. Nix had no chance to defend her good name. This article was sent back here, and many peple have seen it. He alleges in this statement that he considered it really dangerous to try to live longer with his wife; that she had threatened his life, and that of their two daughters, that she had su ungovernable temper, that he had fears of his safety. This statement, published in a town whose inhabitants knew nothing of the situation, would create no comment, or notice, but back here where thousands of people knew them both and have known them for twenty years, it looks differ-ent. Nabody in Dothan believes the statement he gave to the pressout thre. They believe other motives prompted him to apply for a divorce, which he must have had in view before he sold his property here to go west. The daugh ter ought to know something of the inside. She is grown and married, and has a right to speak authoritatively on the matter. She known what her father alleges; she knows the home relations; he has other reasons for wanting a legal separation. It matters not now whether a divorce is granted or not. The husband has dickeraround and secured possession of all the property, save a little place that brings an income of regulate the tariff, in order that the necessities of life may not regulate the tariff, in order that the necessities of life may not be so costly to the people. Educational conventions are assembling over the country preparing better course of singly and exchanging views, as to the best methods to reach the himman mind, discipline it so that the conduct of the body will be respectable. Religious convocations more numerous than every before, in poetry and prose, call the mind into a higher sphere, that it may view the human soul in its majesty, and its relationship to the Diety. Looking through these mediums, government, education and Christianity, we ask: "What is being done for the human body as it relates to life, that it may properly relish the threshold that it is now necessary that it should enter?"

Roney Boys A Sermon on Purity

"Unto the pure all things are pure."

The first number on the delight-ful program given at the Elite Theatre last evening by "Roney's Boys" captured the hearts of the people who had packed the house to hear this unique, unrivaled and unapproachable, popular attrac-

Under the leadership of Henry B. Roney, the public expects a concert of musual execulence, for he has by many years of work along this line established a standard of the control of the c dard of merit which has become so proverbial as to inspire public confidence in whatever talent he introduces.

The concert given by his boys last evening at the Elite appealed to meigs a sermon. For the time being I was transported to some vast, holy cathedral upon whose alter, lighted with many candles shone the waxen beauty of the sacred pure-white Easter lillies, giving out their fragrance mingledlwith the odor of burning in-censes, while the vested choir sang, "Jead Kindly Limb "There has never been a sermon presched that would more forcibly teach the wiedom of leading a pure life, than the concert given here in Do-than by Roney's Boys. When the benediction, "God Be With You Till Again" was being sung by these talented, handsome sung by these talented, handsome sags. little men; I breathed a prayor The coreer of "The Alabama"

THE CONFEDERATE NAVY

with some of the statements made by Judge A. O. Wright, of Jacksonville, Fin., in the address which he delivered several days ago in Charleston, S. C., on the navy of the Confederate States.

The unequal odds which the South was called upon to face in the great war of speedsion were nowhere more strikingly apparent han in the more handful of hoats which floated the Stars and Bars.

At the beginning of hostilities he South was wholly without na al equipment.

It was necessary to secure fighting craft in the hest way possi-ble and to begin the work of train ing sailors to man the vessels; but some of the most brilliant ploits of the Soutern Confederacy were witnessed upon the value of the trophies which were captured by this famous privateer, all other records have been surpassed: and Raphael Semmes, her gallant commander, leserves iank with Prake and Nelson onong the great sea captains of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Destitute of the proper appli-onces for building ships, it was necessary for the South to patronize foreign docks, and "The Alar took the place of an odd little ressel called "The Sumpter," chieft, in the emergency of the one diverted from commer sal to naval uses by being mount d with guns; but she the aice of her conversion ten time ver in the prizes which she capured.

And to the South, therefore, he ongs the credit of having built ad commissioned the first irondad which was ever engaged in a i fight at sea.

The Confederate navy also laims the honor of having invent-I the submarine torpedo boat.

It is also of interest to note in his connection that the United States sloop of war, "The Housa ionic," was sunk off the cost near harleston by a submarine under command of Lieutenant George E. Dixon, who went willingly and cheerfully to death to accomplish 🕸 accessinly the master stroke.

Judge Wright told of the battle
